Source: Average actual prices received from exporters, Exchange rate: 33.5 baht/U.S.$

Market Tone: Despite downward pressure on domestic prices, export prices for most grades of rice increased slightly from the previous week due to the strengthening Thai baht. The Thai baht strengthened to 33.5 baht/$, compared to 34.3 baht/$ in the previous week. Meanwhile, parboiled rice prices also increased slightly despite low seasonal demand during Ramadan. Shipments of parboiled rice to African countries, particularly to Nigeria, have reportedly slowed as most outstanding contracts have been fulfilled. However, some exporters are currently raising prices for white rice due to heavy flooding in some of the northern and central rice growing areas. The affected area reportedly covers 1.1 million rai (0.2 million hectares). However, on September 22, the Office of Agricultural Economics estimated the damaged areas only accounts for around 10 percent of the total the affected flooded area, or 141,143 rai (22,583 hectare), as water receded quickly in many areas. Meanwhile, heavy rain in the northeast has benefited fragrant rice production which will be harvested in the next few months.

Thus far, the current 2007/08 second-crop intervention program has absorbed approximately 4.0 million tons of paddy valued at 43 billion baht ($1.3 billion). The Government will likely reach the target of 4.5 million tons of paddy by the end of the program on September 30, and outstanding intervention stocks should climb to 5.1 million tons of rice. However, the Government is expected to release a large portion of stocks for export next month but the details have yet to materialize.

The following are the reported rice exports (as is basis):
